

Cancer Care and Infusion Center

in Orland Park

Where We Put Patients First

A cancer diagnosis can turn your life upside down, placing you into an unfamiliar world of specialists, appointments, testing and treatments, all with a vocabulary that you've never heard before.

Amidst all this, you know you want only the best. You want university-level technology and knowledge. Physicians and providers who are on the leading edge of evidence-based treatments and innovations. And individualized care that's delivered with compassion, kindness and patience.

And of course, you want it convenient and close to home, without a long drive, expensive parking or massive medical campuses to navigate.

With Premier Suburban Medical Group Hematology, Oncology and Infusion, you'll get every single thing you need.

Premier Suburban Medical Group is your answer to get the very best cancer and infusion therapy care available, delivered by caregivers who really do care, with convenient appointments close to home.

At Premier Suburban Medical Group, your cancer journey begins with a thorough review and consultation with noted hematologist/oncologist Refat Baridi, M.D., and our family of oncology providers. We'll discuss test results, diagnosis, treatment options and scheduling.

You and your family are encouraged to ask all the questions you need answered, and we'll share educational materials and resources that will build your confidence in our journey together.

Our financial team works to ensure you get the most out of your insurance coverage. They are dedicated to alleviating financial barriers and accessing any other financial resources.

You'll meet with your team members each and every week to help manage medications and symptoms to ensure you are living as comfortably and fully as possible. You'll have regular access to your caregivers to ask any questions, communicate any concerns, and get solutions as soon as possible.

Our relationship with you will go far beyond medical care. Your caregivers become deeply invested not just in your health, but in your life, celebrating every joyous milestone with you.

When you visit for treatment, you'll find the convenience of our Infusion Therapy Center unmatched. At each appointment, all in one building, you'll:

- Have labs drawn
- Visit with your provider to discuss lab results and to be cleared for treatment
- Have your infusion medications prepared by our pharmacy staff
- Receive your treatment

With our vast knowledge, unmatched medical expertise, compassionate care and convenient location in your community, Premier Suburban Medical Group Hematology, Oncology and Infusion Therapy is your solution.

Your Oncology and Infusion Team

Led by Dr. Refat Baridi, our team of physicians, advanced practice providers, nurses, pharmacy staff, medical assistants, and administrative and financial staff has been working together for many years.

We believe fiercely in our shared vision: offering the latest, university-level cancer and infusion therapy innovations to our patients to defeat cancer and disease.

Dr. Baridi is fellowship-trained in hematology and oncology at Finch University of Health Sciences/Chicago Medical School and is an Associate Professor of Medicine at Rush University Medical Center.

Melyssa, Elzbieta, Meagan, Kimberly and Seema are advanced practice providers with superior training and education, focused on providing the highest levels of science and support in oncology, cancer care and treatment.

Our team is a family, and when you receive treatment with us, you and your family become part of ours.
